

The Great Outdoors!!

School is out and it is time for some safe, socially distant sunshine. Take advantage of time spent with your family and stay engaged in your outdoor activities. Enjoy family time in your backyard or in a public place. Explore the outdoors with a family day trip, hike or bike ride, spend time along the river, throw or kick a ball, or even create a nature scavenger hunt for your kids! Taking advantage of nature around us is one way to have fun while staying 6 feet apart.

Celebrate Social Emotional Learning

The 2020 - 2021 school year was unlike any other. Students learned from a distance and on campus, while utilizing resources online like never before. Students received academic instruction and intervention while enriching themselves with social-emotional learning discussions and activities. Classes may be on pause for the summer, yet social-emotional learning and resources apply to everyday life within every family system. For more information and the latest on social-emotional learning check out the CASEL (Collaborative for Academic, Social, and Emotional Learning) website. For free resources and activities surrounding your middle schooler, check out the Stressed Teens Toolbox, offering videos, podcasts, worksheets, and tips surround mental health of your student during the pandemic.
